

Graduate Program in Education

The program offers admission to those who fit either of the two categories below:

1. Those who have successfully acquired a certain amount of advanced knowledge in the area of education or day care, and are ready to further their learning and to acquire the ability to carry out research for the purposes of playing active roles as an education professional or an academic researcher.
2. Those who have worked as an education professional in the areas of education or day care, and are ready to comprehensively learn the latest knowledge, theories and skills and to acquire the ability to carry out research for the purposes of developing their careers or being involved in the education of those who follow them.